

ABSTRACT

"Packet of tissues"

The invention relates to a packet (20) of stacked absorbent paper tissues (64) of the type which comprises a sheet of flexible material, such as a plastic wrapping sheet (21) which comprises opening means allowing a region to be uncovered for grasping at least one tissue (64) so as to extract it individually from the wrapper (21), and of the type which is of parallelepipedal overall shape defined by a height (H), a width (L) and a thickness (E), characterized in that the height (H) and the width (L) are equal so that the packet (20) has square front (22) and rear (24) frontal faces.

Figure 3.